2018 Nebraska Financial Institution Tax Return Instructions

What's New

Electronic Payments. Financial institutions that made tax payments exceeding $5,000 in the prior year are required to make all payments electronically.

Affordable Housing Tax Credit. For tax years beginning on and after January 1, 2019, financial institutions may earn a nonrefundable tax credit not to exceed the amount of the federal Low-Income Housing Tax Credit. The credits are issued for the first six years of the credit period as defined under Federal law, and are allocated to projects placed in service after January 1, 2018. The Nebraska Investment Finance Authority (NIFA) approves the tax credits. Additional information on this credit is available on the Department's website.

Terms

Average Deposits. Average deposits are the total deposits accepted at the financial institution's Nebraska offices, plus deposits solicited from Nebraska residents that are accepted at offices outside of Nebraska.

- Calendar-year financial institutions total the deposits held on the last day of the preceding year and the last day of each calendar quarter within the current year, and divide by five.
- Fiscal-year financial institutions, or short-period financial institutions, total the deposits held on the last day of the preceding fiscal year, the last day of each complete calendar quarter within the fiscal year, and the last day of the fiscal year, and divide by the number of amounts added together.

Deposits. Deposits are:

- Money placed in the custody of the financial institution for safety or convenience that may be withdrawn at the will of the depositor, or under the rules and regulations agreed upon by the financial institution and the depositor; and
- Money for which a certificate may be issued and that may be payable on demand, on certain notice, or at a fixed future date or time.

Deposits do not include money placed with the trust department of any financial institution in a fiduciary capacity. Deposits do include any money placed in the trust department with the financial institution that is not in a fiduciary capacity.

Financial Institution. Financial institution includes any of the following entities that are chartered or qualified to do business in Nebraska. A financial institution also includes a bank holding company or a financial holding company that is not chartered to do business in Nebraska, but maintains a permanent place of business in the state and actively solicits deposits from Nebraska residents for an affiliate.

- ◆ Cooperative credit association
- Credit union, except federally chartered
- ◆ Industrial loan and investment company
- ◆ Loan servicing center, if deposits are accepted

Income and expenses must be computed according to the requirements of the financial institution's regulatory agencies.

Instructions

Shareholder's Schedule — Shareholder's Share of Nebraska Financial Institution Tax Paid

Financial institutions organized as S corporations must complete and file the Shareholder's Schedule with the Financial Institution Tax Return, Form 1120NF, to report each shareholder's proportionate share of credit for the tax paid by the financial institution. If a trust owns shares of the financial institution, attach a list of the beneficiaries of the trust, including the beneficiaries' Social Security numbers, or other appropriate tax ID numbers. The shareholder or beneficiary Social Security numbers are required in order to verify the amount of the credit being claimed when the individual, or business entity, files an income tax return. If more lines are needed, make additional copies and attach to the Form 1120NF.

Columns A Through E. Enter the name and mailing address of the shareholder or beneficiary, as applicable.

Column F. Enter the Social Security number, or other appropriate tax ID number, of the shareholder or beneficiary, as applicable.

Column G. Enter the shareholder's or beneficiary's ownership percentage, as applicable (calculate to at least six decimal places, then round to five decimals). For example, if the ownership percentage is .123464, round to .12346 and enter 12.346%.

If an ownership percentage changes during the year, compute the individual shareholder's percentage using a ratio of income received by the individual to the total income of the financial institution. The percentages in column G must total 100%.

Column H. Enter the total amount of tax paid by the financial institution from line 16, Form 1120NF.

Column I. Multiply the tax paid in column H by the percentage in column G. Enter the individual shareholder's or beneficiary's amount of calculated credit from Column I on the Statement of Nebraska Financial Institution Tax Credit, Form NFC, provided to each shareholder or beneficiary.
